Modernizing Maintenance and Training with 5G

Dominic Bonaduce

Product Strategy Manager – Tech Product Management
Verizon

Abstract:

While many areas of military operations have the potential to realize significant improvements by leveraging 5G, the areas of maintenance and training are poised to experience a high degree of innovation in the immediate future. This program will discuss some of the groundbreaking maintenance and training solutions that 5G can enable for the warfighter and will also include examples of solutions already in use by the DOD today as well as hands on demonstrations.
