

Wednesday, February 13, 2019

3:40 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.

The Tedium of TDM: Moving Towards Unified Communications

Alex Doyle

Director, Project Management and Development

Verizon

Abstract: Defense facilities throughout the U.S. continue using legacy TDM circuits and equipment. Costs of maintaining this legacy infrastructure are steadily rising. How can defense agencies gain more operational effectiveness...and avoid the tedium of TDM? A Unified Communications strategy, with integrated voice and video architecture provided “as a service” to drive improved collaboration, is one approach.

Verizon will discuss what an effective unified communications strategy can look like for defense agencies.